RIGHTWAY GROWTH · COLD CALL

The Cold Call

One goal: book the screen share on this call. Easy and casual, like you're calling someone you already know. A real pattern interrupt, your name slipped in, the free plan, teach them something, book it, then a few discovery questions so the meeting is all showing.

	Stage	Your goal
1	The owner picks up	"Is this [name]?" Then straight into the opener. No "how are you".
2	No website	Only when their demo site is really built: "I just built you one, wanna see it?"
3	The pattern interrupt	"You guys are still open, right?" Then slip your name in.
4	Why I called	The free, tailored plan. "Is that something you'd want?"
5	On the fence	Easier to show than tell. A second pair of eyes.
6	Before you book	Teach them: their competitors, reviews, websites, ads.
7	Book it on this call	A screen share today or tomorrow. Two times.
8	After booking	Discovery now, so the meeting is all showing.
9	Lock it in	The Meet link goes by email, heads ups follow.

BEFORE YOU DIAL

- Hub: Phone, Dialer. Pick the time zone tab that is in calling hours. The queue only shows leads between 8am and 8pm their time.
- Call prep opens beside the queue and researches the next leads ahead. No research on a lead? Press Research now before you say you looked them up.
- Red banner on the dialer = a wallet is low. Tell the owner. No DataForSEO funds means no research and no listing checks.
- After every call the result popup opens. Log it. The Hub sets the callback for you.

HOW TO READ THIS

- Plain text: say it, word for word until it is yours.
- Green blanks: fill in from call prep in the Hub. It shows the real names and numbers.
- SCREEN boxes: what is on the screen and what you point at, at that moment.
- Grey italic: your stage directions. Never read these out loud.

1 The owner picks up

CASUAL, LIKE YOU KNOW THEM

Hey, is this first name?

> Line choppy, or they picked up mid word? That's when you use: 'You broke up there, is this first name?' Only when it really happened.

> Then roll straight into the opener: the website one if it shows below, otherwise the pattern interrupt. No 'how are you', no asking for their time.

> Where a line says I/we: say I only for what you did yourself, otherwise we. Agent or owner, everyone reads the same script.

YOUR SCREEN Phone, Dialer. Call prep is beside the queue with their name, what research found and the listing check. No research yet? Press Research now while it rings.

2 No website, the site I built

ONLY WHEN THEIR DEMO SITE IS BUILT

IF THEY HAVE NO WEBSITE

Hey first name, look, so I/we actually couldn't find your website online, so I/we decided to sit down and just built you one... look first name, it's already done. You wanna see it?

(If they ask who this is:) Oh my bad, I'm your name, with RightWay Growth. We build websites for industry businesses around city.

> Only open with this when their demo site is really built and live, with the link ready to text or email. Not built yet? Use the pattern interrupt instead. They say yes: go to Before you book, then book the screen share to walk them through it.

3 The pattern interrupt

PATTERN INTERRUPT, THEN YOUR NAME

Hey, you guys are still open, right?

> If they ask why: 'Just wanted to make sure I caught you before you closed.' If their Google has no hours, call prep opens with: 'Hey, you guys are open today, right? Google doesn't show your hours, so I wasn't sure.' And if they ask where: 'On Google. Your hours aren't on your listing.'

Perfect. Oh, I'm your name by the way, with RightWay Growth.

> That's the intro. Slip it in like it's nothing and keep rolling. Never say consultant.

4 Why I called

THE FREE PLAN

> Research hasn't run yet? Press Research now first. Until it has, say: 'So we've been putting together tailored strategies for industry businesses around city to help bring in more of the specific, profitable jobs you actually want.'

So I/we actually looked you guys up and used your info to build an automated, tailored strategy to help bring in more of the specific, profitable jobs you actually want. I can book you a plan today, completely free. Is that something you'd want?

OR If you're not interested, no worries. Or just give me 20 seconds and I can let you know what we can do for you?

(If they ask what you found:) scan line from call prep And X of 15 directories Google checks have you wrong or missing.

5 On the fence

SHOW, DO NOT TELL

Hey look first name, we can help you get more of the calls from people searching "keyword" that are going to top competitor right now. Happy to show you everything that's set up. I/we can get into the technical side if you want, but it'd be way easier if I/we just showed you, don't you think?

(Already working with somebody?) Totally fine. Think of us as a second pair of eyes. If they're doing a great job, you'll know for sure.

6 Before you book

TEACH THEM SOMETHING: MORE OF THEM SHOW UP

OK so hey first name, here's what we're gonna do. We're gonna look into all your competitors. We'll break down all their reviews, all their websites, and see what they're doing compared to you. Then I/we will show you all of it, so even if we don't work together, you're still gonna walk away knowing all this new information.

And if any of them are running ads, I/we will show you those too.

> Say this before you book. Teaching them something raises your authority, and it gets more people to actually show up.

YOUR SCREEN their competitors are already in call prep and the Scan tool. For ads, look them up in Google's Ads Transparency Center before the meeting. Only show what you really find.

7 Book it on this call

BOOK IT ON THIS CALL

That's great, I/we would love to show you. I/we can have it all built today, but we have to share the screen to show you what we've got. Does time 1 work for you, or is time 2 better?

(If they want more info first:) Totally, and that's exactly what we go over on the call. I/we will walk you through what we found and everything that's set up, live. Way easier than me reading it off to you. time 1 or time 2?

> Book it on this call. Never 'I'll call you back'. If they say right now: 'Perfect, are you in front of a computer?' Then switch call prep to the Clarity audit tab.

YOUR SCREEN press Book meeting, pick the time and who runs the call. With Google connected the Meet invite goes out by itself and the confirmation email follows right away.

8 After booking, discovery

DISCOVERY, SO THE MEETING IS ALL SHOWING

Perfect, you're locked in for [day and time]. What's the best email for the Google Meet link?

And is this the best cell to text you a reminder? (If yes, tap 'They said yes to texts'.)

So we can have everything ready and we don't waste any of your time, a few quick ones:

1. Is anyone else part of decisions like this, a partner or a spouse? Have them hop on too.
2. Ballpark, what's a typical job worth to you? (Starting guess for industry: job value.)

3. What kind of jobs do you want more of? The ones that actually make you money.
4. Where do most of your customers come from right now? Referrals, Google, something else?
5. What areas or cities do you want to be known in?
6. Are you working with anybody on marketing right now? How's that going?
7. Do you have the logins for your Google profile and your website? (No stress if not, it just saves time.)

> Type every answer into the lead notes while they talk. These cover the clarity call discovery, so on the call you only confirm them and spend the time showing.

9 Lock it in

LOCK IT IN

Awesome. The Google Meet link is going to your email right now, and we'll send you a heads up the morning of and right before. Talk soon, first name.

> Log the call as Booked. The Hub sends the confirmation, the morning message, the 3 hour reminder and the 10 minute link by itself. See Automations.

WHAT THE HUB SENDS AFTER YOU BOOK

- Right away: the confirmation email with the Google Meet link (and Google's own calendar invite when Google is connected).
- The morning of: "Hey [name], looked into all your competitors, found something crazy, so excited to show you."
- 3 hours before: "Hey [name], super excited! Here's the Google Meet link again..." By text once texts are approved: "I emailed you the Google Meet link. Let me know if you have it OK."
- 10 minutes before: "Hey [name], here's the Google Meet, super excited to chat with you."
- Email only until A2P is approved for texts. Then the owner switches the set on the Automations page. Make the morning message true: do the competitor homework before then.

If you hit a gatekeeper or voicemail

G Gatekeeper

SAME EASY ENERGY: A NAME AND A TIME, NOT A PITCH

Hey, you guys are still open, right? ... Perfect. Is first name around?

(They ask who's calling:) Oh, it's your name, with RightWay Growth. I/we looked business up on Google and put something together for first name. It's quick.

OR No worries. Who handles the Google stuff over there? ... Got it, when's the best time to catch them?

> Same easy energy as the owner opener. Get a name and a time, not a pitch. Put both in the lead notes and log it as Gatekeeper.

V Voicemail

UNDER 25 SECONDS

Hey first name, it's your name, with RightWay Growth. I/we looked business up on Google and put together a plan to bring in more of the profitable jobs. Give me a call back at your number. Again, your name, your number.

> Under 25 seconds. Say the number twice, slowly. Text only if they gave permission or texted first.

Cold call objections

"Not interested"

No worries at all. Just give me 20 seconds and I'll tell you what we found, and if it's not for you, that's totally fine. (20 seconds: why you called. Then:) It's way easier to show you on a quick screen share. time 1 or time 2?

"We're booked out"

That's the best problem to have. Is it the work you want though, or would you take more of the bigger jobs if they came in? (Listen.) That's exactly what the plan is built around. time 1 or time 2?

"What is this about?"

I/we looked business up on Google and put together a plan to bring in more of the profitable jobs. It's free. We just need to share the screen to show you. time 1 or time 2?

"Is this a sales call?"

Honestly, it's more of a show and tell. I/we put a plan together for you. If you like it, we can talk about doing it together. If not, you keep it. time 1 or time 2?

"How much does it cost?"

The plan's free, and you keep it either way. If you want help with it after, it depends on what you actually need, and I'd just be guessing before you see it. time 1 or time 2?

"Just send me something"

I can, but it's all built around your map and your competitors, and that's way easier to show than send. Quick screen share and you keep everything. time 1 or time 2?

"I already have someone"

Totally fine. Think of us as a second pair of eyes. If they're doing a great job, the plan will show it, and you'll know for sure. time 1 or time 2?

"I already have someone handling my Google"

Good, that means you take it seriously. Quick question: do they show you a map like this every month? Right now you're on the first page in X of Y spots around you. Is that where you expected to be? (Let them answer.) I'm not going to talk badly about anyone. I'll just show you how we're different, and you decide. (Back to script.)

"Just send me an email"

Happy to. So it doesn't get buried, what part should I focus on? (Let them answer.) Honestly, the map makes way more sense on the screen than in an email, and it's 15 minutes. Does time 1 or time 2 work?

"I'm busy right now"

Totally get it, you're running a business. The clarity scan takes 15 minutes on a screen share. Is later today or tomorrow morning better? I'll put it on my calendar and call right on time.

"Are you with Google?"

No, we're an independent local marketing company in Hollywood, Florida. We help businesses show up better on Google and get more calls from it.

"How did you get my number?"

Your business number is public on your Google listing. I came across business while checking who shows up for "keyword" in city.
