COLD CALL SCRIPT

The owner picks up:

Hey, is this [first name]?

Only if the line really cut out: 'You broke up there, is this [first name]?'

No website, the site I built:

IF THEY HAVE NO WEBSITE: Hey [first name], look, so I actually couldn't find your website online, so I decided to sit down and just built you one... look [first name], it's already done. You wanna see it?

(If they ask who this is:) Oh my bad, I'm [your name], with RightWay Growth. We build websites for [industry] businesses around [city].

Only when their demo site is built and the link is ready.

The pattern interrupt:

Hey, you guys are still open, right?

(If they ask why:) Just wanted to make sure I caught you before you closed.

Perfect. Oh, I'm [your name] by the way, with RightWay Growth.

Why I called:

So I actually looked you guys up and used your info to build an automated, tailored strategy to help bring in more of the specific, profitable jobs you actually want. I can book you a plan today, completely free. Is that something you'd want?

Or: If you're not interested, no worries. Or just give me 20 seconds and I can let you know what we can do for you?

(If they ask what you found:) [scan line from call prep] And [X of 15] directories Google checks have you wrong or missing.

On the fence:

Hey look [first name], we can help you get more of the calls from people searching "[keyword]" that are going to [top competitor] right now. Happy to show you everything that's set up. I can get into the technical side if you want, but it'd be way easier if I just showed you, don't you think?

(Already working with somebody?) Totally fine. Think of us as a second pair of eyes. If they're doing a great job, you'll know for sure.

Before you book:

OK so hey [first name], here's what we're gonna do. We're gonna look into all your competitors. We'll break down all their reviews, all their websites, and see what they're doing compared to you. Then I will show you all of it, so even if we don't work together, you're still gonna walk away knowing all this new information.

And if any of them are running ads, I will show you those too.

Book it on this call:

That's great, I would love to show you. I can have it all built today, but we have to share the screen to show you what we've got. Does [time 1] work for you, or is [time 2] better?

(If they want more info first:) Totally, and that's exactly what we go over on the call. I will walk you through what we found and everything that's set up, live. Way easier than me reading it off to you. [time 1] or [time 2]?

Book it on this call.

After booking, discovery:

Perfect, you're locked in for [day and time]. What's the best email for the Google Meet link?

And is this the best cell to text you a reminder? (If yes, tap 'They said yes to texts'.)

So we can have everything ready and we don't waste any of your time, a few quick ones:

1. Is anyone else part of decisions like this, a partner or a spouse? Have them hop on too.

2. Ballpark, what's a typical job worth to you?

3. What kind of jobs do you want more of? The ones that actually make you money.

4. Where do most of your customers come from right now? Referrals, Google, something else?

5. What areas or cities do you want to be known in?

6. Are you working with anybody on marketing right now? How's that going?

7. Do you have the logins for your Google profile and your website? (No stress if not, it just saves time.)

Type the answers into the lead notes.

Lock it in:

Awesome. The Google Meet link is going to your email right now, and we'll send you a heads up the morning of and right before. Talk soon, [first name].

Log it as Booked.

Gatekeeper:

Hey, you guys are still open, right? ... Perfect. Is [first name] around?

(They ask who's calling:) Oh, it's [your name], with RightWay Growth. I looked [business] up on Google and put something together for [first name]. It's quick.

Or: No worries. Who handles the Google stuff over there? ... Got it, when's the best time to catch them?

Get a name and a time. Log it as Gatekeeper.

Voicemail:

Hey [first name], it's [your name], with RightWay Growth. I looked [business] up on Google and put together a plan to bring in more of the profitable jobs. Give me a call back at [your number]. Again, [your name], [your number].

Under 25 seconds. Number twice, slowly.

Objections:

“Not interested”

No worries at all. Just give me 20 seconds and I'll tell you what we found, and if it's not for you, that's totally fine. (20 seconds: why you called. Then:) It's way easier to show you on a quick screen share. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“We're booked out”

That's the best problem to have. Is it the work you want though, or would you take more of the bigger jobs if they came in? (Listen.) That's exactly what the plan is built around. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“What is this about?”

I looked [business] up on Google and put together a plan to bring in more of the profitable jobs. It's free. We just need to share the screen to show you. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“Is this a sales call?”

Honestly, it's more of a show and tell. I put a plan together for you. If you like it, we can talk about doing it together. If not, you keep it. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“How much does it cost?”

The plan's free, and you keep it either way. If you want help with it after, it depends on what you actually need, and I'd just be guessing before you see it. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“Just send me something”

I can, but it's all built around your map and your competitors, and that's way easier to show than send. Quick screen share and you keep everything. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“I already have someone”

Totally fine. Think of us as a second pair of eyes. If they're doing a great job, the plan will show it, and you'll know for sure. [time 1] or [time 2]?

“I already have someone handling my Google”

Good, that means you take it seriously. Quick question: do they show you a map like this every month? Right now you're on the first page in [X of Y] spots around you. Is that where you expected to be? (Let them answer.) I'm not going to talk badly about anyone. I'll just show you how we're different, and you decide. (Back to script.)

“Just send me an email”

Happy to. So it doesn't get buried, what part should I focus on? (Let them answer.) Honestly, the map makes way more sense on the screen than in an email, and it's 15 minutes. Does [time 1] or [time 2] work?

“I'm busy right now”

Totally get it, you're running a business. The clarity scan takes 15 minutes on a screen share. Is later today or tomorrow morning better? I'll put it on my calendar and call right on time.

“Are you with Google?”

No, we're an independent local marketing company in Miami and Fort Lauderdale. We help businesses show up better on Google and get more calls from it.

“How did you get my number?”

Your business number is public on your Google listing. I came across [business] while checking who shows up for "[keyword]" in [city].
